ERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Austin Bruins' 2025-26 season marks the team's 16th year competing in the North American Hockey League (NAHL). Founded in 2010 by Craig Patrick, the Bruins brought junior hockey back to Austin for the first time since the Austin Mavericks called Riverside Arena home from 1974 to 1985.
In their first 15 seasons, the Black and Gold have failed to qualify for the playoffs only three times, with a fourth season ending without a postseason due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Bruins have competed in the NAHL's Central Division throughout their entire history, earning seven top-two finishes and capturing the division's regular-season crown four times. While Austin has yet to claim the league's ultimate prize—the coveted Robertson Cup—the franchise has reached the Cup Final three times, including back-to-back appearances in 2013-14 and 2014-15. Their most recent trip came in the 2022-23 season.

Player development has always been a cornerstone of the Bruins' identity, with alumni advancing to Division I and Division III college hockey, professional leagues, and even the National Hockey League (NHL). Five former Bruins have reached the NHL: Christian Folin, CJ Smith, Mads Søgaard, Nico Sturm, and Nikolai Knyzhov. Sturm is the only alumnus to hoist the Stanley Cup, doing so with both the Colorado Avalanche and Florida Panthers.
