QUICK HITS

- Both the Bruins and Shamrocks are coming off of a bye weekend - the Shamrocks' second in the month of October. The Shamrocks have played the fewest games in the NAHL (9) this season while the Bruins and fellow Central Division member Minnesota Mallards have played the second fewest (11)
- Austin has a chance to face a former Bruin in back to back series this weekend if Shamrocks goalie Jack Kavetsky appears in net. Kavetsky served as a backup goalie during the 2024-25 season without appearing in a game. Former Bruin Devin Rustlie appeared in the third period on Oct. 18th for Minot, allowing one goal
- John Flood made his NAHL debut on October 18th in impressive fashion, scoring the first goal of the game and his career just 6:14 into the first period. Flood joins teammate Tucker Lovejoy as Bruins to score in their season debuts this year

AMERICAN HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Austin Bruins' 2025-26 season marks the team's 16th year competing in the North American Hockey League (NAHL). Founded in 2010 by Craig Patrick, the Bruins brought junior hockey back to Austin for the first time since the Austin Mavericks called Riverside Arena home from 1974 to 1985.

In their first 15 seasons, the Black and Gold have failed to qualify for the playoffs only three times, with a fourth season ending without a postseason due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Bruins have competed in the NAHL's Central Division throughout their entire history, earning seven top-two finishes and capturing the division's regular-season crown four times. While Austin has yet to claim the league's ultimate prize—the coveted Robertson Cup—the franchise has reached the Cup Final three times, including back-to-back appearances in 2013-14 and 2014-15. Their most recent trip came in the 2022-23 season.

Player development has always been a cornerstone of the Bruins' identity, with alumni advancing to Division I and Division III college hockey, professional leagues, and even the National Hockey League (NHL). Five former Bruins have reached the NHL: Christian Folin, CJ Smith, Mads Søgaard, Nico Sturm, and Nikolai Knyzhov. Sturm is the only alumnus to hoist the Stanley Cup, doing so with both the Colorado Avalanche and Florida Panthers.
